

This isn't your ordinary temporary staffing...

American companies are increasingly taking advantage of the availability of contract labor. More than 90 percent of US firms use contract talent, doubling the spend in this area over the past six years to over $120 billion. It's a trend experts in the field say will continue even as the economy recovers.

According to a recent CNBC article, firms hiring contract workers allow themselves to cut fixed employment costs, such as health insurance and retirement benefits, while giving them a larger, more flexible talent pool to choose from.

- Have you wished you could get an experienced supply chain professional to tackle a small or short term project when there is just not enough manpower?
- Or perhaps your search for the right person is taking longer than anticipated?

Why not let us start the savings quicker by providing a "Pro" resource for your needs?

With our proven success, we can add immediate value to your organization.

We provide seasoned supply chain professionals that fill short term needs, projects, or roles. As leaders that performed at senior and mid-level supply chain and operations roles, we have a passion for what we do. Having worked in many industries, categories, and companies allows us to utilize various best practices and intelligence that may be translatable to your situation.

It is hard finding the right help

We have tackled some of the toughest problems, as well as come in behind large consultancies as a more cost effective resource, finishing off what others have started. As a small group, we understand that we are measured by your success, and that days of big budgets are gone.

Because we have worked within our profession for years, we are naturally cost conscious, and use technology and our frugal nature to deliver the most cost effective solution.

Past Work As A “Pro”:

- Interim Head Procurement Executive
- Interim Head Operations Executive
- Category Manager
- World Wide Supplier Search
- Industry Analysis or Competitive Analysis for Supplier Markets
- Commodity or Category Management and Research
- RFQ/RFP Development
- Bid Analysis
- On Site Supplier Audits
- Off/Near Shore Solutions
- Specific Cost Reduction Programs

Rent-A Pro Benefits

- No Permanent Headcount
- Rapid Deployment and Execution
- Expertise on Demand
- No Hiring Risk and Associated Termination Costs
- Decreased Ramp-up Time — Shortened Learning Gap
- Integration of Other Industry Knowledge and Best Practices

Why Sourcing Savvy?

We possess a minimum of 15 years of progressive supply chain experience. We hit the ground running. Unlike other larger groups, this allows rapid completion of the assigned scope as we are not providing freshly minted MBA's for you to train, or new consultants who are training on your project.

About Sourcing Savvy

We are a group of proven business leaders and functional experts that also cycle as advisors. This allows us to develop a viewpoint of having first hand experience while melding best practices from elsewhere. We feel that this is a unique advantage that gives us perspectives unmatched by other advisory groups.

For more information, please contact Jeff Vogt at jeff.vogt@sourcingsavvy.com or by phone at 321-406-1946